S10: 5. I am in control of money

The most important thing to note when you pursue your wealth is that you are in control of your money, not the other way around. When you have a clear understanding and control over your money, you will never misuse the money you have accumulated.

The trick is to always be smart in managing your financial situation. Measure your accumulated wealth and set your priorities. Some people are blinded by the wealth they have instantly accumulated and this is when their money controls them.

This is why you have to always practice gratitude. Do not be overcome by greed and envy. This will not take you far. When you are grateful of what you have, this will attract more abundance. The universe will reward you with more of what you truly deserve.

Start your subconscious programming.
Repeat them all and have a sense of belief in everything you wish to pursue.

S11: Start your subconscious programming. Repeat them all and have a sense of belief in everything you wish to pursue. Give yourself permission to work towards money and realize that nothing is holding you back but yourself.
